PRESCRIBED FIRES PUBLIC MEETINGS
SCHEDULED FOR DELTA AND GLENNALLEN

FAIRBANKS, Alaska—The Bureau of Land Management Alaska Fire Service (AFS) is planning prescribed fire projects to help federal and military partners reduce the potential for wildland fires that could threaten communities or military facilities.

AFS will host public meetings in Delta and Glennallen next week where specific information will be available about each project.

Planning is currently being conducted for projects on Fort Wainwright, the Donnelly Training Area adjacent to Fort Greely, and Fort Richardson. There is also a prescribed fire project being planned in Alphabet Hills to improve wildlife habitat, particularly for moose.

For more information, telephone 907-356-5511.
